

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A method produces a semiconductor structure on a substrate. Then, a protective layer is applied to the semiconductor structure. To fabricate a further semiconductor structure that is to be formed on the substrate, intermediate processes, which lead to the formation of cracks in the protective layer, are carried out. The protective layer is repaired with the aid of a repair layer.

YC/bb